It's Our Own Country

Profit in Broilers

No Deal With Guilty

If what I heard on the radio other night is correct our Hope youngsters need to brush up on geography — at least American geography. They did badly in a quiz on state capitals.

I don't know that studying geography ever enabled a boy to make more money as a man, but it's interesting for its own sake, and knowledge of geography is in the American tradition. We are the world's greatest travelers; we probably throw away more road maps every year than the rest of the nations own.

This is our country and we ought to know it well. Learning the 48 state capitals is a good beginning.

We published in detail yesterday an account of what the broiler business might do for the small farmers of this section, as outlined by R. J. Higgins, Hot Springs district manager of General Mills, Inc.

I thought Mr. Higgins stated the case bluntly — which is how it ought to be stated when the issue is a business risk.

It appears that the milling company participates in the cost of feeding broilers, but the heaviest risk — building modern and efficient poultry houses — has to be assumed locally. It runs into important figures.

I gathered from the discussion at Mr. Higgins' meeting Tuesday that a setup to handle 5,000 broilers might run around $5,000 for poultry house and equipment. With four crops the producer would turn out 20,000 broilers a year, and he would be shooting for an average profit of 10 cents a bird — $2,000 annual profit. Even on a five-year house-financing program, the producer would stand to wind up with only $1,000 or so ready cash per year, until the poultry plant was paid for and he might do no better than break even on pocket-money until out of debt.

That's something the farmers are going to have to decide for themselves. It involves risking some of their present property or resources in establishing credit to go into a new venture.

I will say this, however: Few businesses are established either in town or on the farm without risk and hardship. We never got a dime out of this newspaper the first seven years; we had to improve machinery, fight a depression, buy a building. The owner is always at the tag-end of the payoff line — and that's how it is with the farmer going into a new venture like broiler-raising . . . it won't be any other way.

But if this is the most favorable section of all for broiler-raising, as we are told it is, and a farmer decides for it, then he ought to make a commitment big enough to give him a chance to succeed. Then if he's a good manager he should make the grade — and if he has the reputation of not being a good manager he won't get the credit in the first place.

This is a rather embarrassing discussion for city folks, because half the townspeople of America think they know something about poultry — but are stricken dumb when it comes to advising the other fellow whether to risk big money on it.

The broiler business is offered as an opportunity for the small farmer who is turning away from row crops. I know Hope would like to help do something for the farm community — but this is a turn that is going to be called by the farmer himself.

The House Judiciary Subcommittee spoke the sentiments of most citizens Tuesday when it flatly rejected President Truman's proposal to give his special corruption prosecutor, Newbold Morris, authority to offer immunity to witnesses who might object to testifying for fear they would incriminate themselves.

We've just been treated to the spectacle of tax collectors compromising the government with fraudulent taxpayers, and we don't want to see Morris clothed with immunity powers only to discover as time wears on that he has exempt more crooks than he has caught.

Oakhaven Insurance Rates Reduced

The town of Oakhaven has received an insurance rate reduction effective January 15; local insurance agencies have been officially notified by the state insurance commission.

The new rating drops the town from Class 10 to Class 9 and represents a saving of 22 cents per $100 on property insurance.

Union to Decide on Steel Strike for Saturday

Pittsburgh, Feb. 21 (AP) — Steel-hungry America should learn today whether the CIO United Steelworkers will go through with a paralyzing strike set for midnight Saturday. The steel industry is gambling the walkout will be postponed.

Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the steelworkers, summoned his top strategy makers here to make the union decision.

An executive board meeting was scheduled for 10 a.m. (EST), and a Wage Policy Committee meeting at 2 p.m. (EST), Murray, two other international USW officers and 32 district directors comprise the Executive Board. The Wage Policy Committee, which passes on action of the board, is made up of the board, plus representatives of every USW local in the country.

The industry roared full speed ahead while the union officials met. When a strike is threatened, the industry usually begins an orderly shutdown process. It requires from four days to a week to cool furnaces without damaging them.

Closely observers felt the union would extend the strike deadline so the Wage Stabilization Board would have more time to recommend a settlement in the Democratic runoff primary. Unofficial returns from 2,092 of the state's 2,113 precincts showed: Kennon 477,913.

Carlos G. Spah 229,032.

Spah, a former state district judge of Baton Rouge, was the handpicked candidate of Governor Long, who was barred by the constitution from a second four-year term.

The federal agency will not participate in a labor dispute which has produced a strike. Consequently, observers feel the union will move back its strike date in order to see what the WSB recommends.

A recommendation is not binding.

Kennon's victory actually gives him only the Democratic nomination but in this one-party state that is equivalent to election. In an April election, however, he will face Harrison Bagwell of Baton Rouge, the Republican candidate, who was unopposed for this party's nomination.

Only about 1,500 Republicans are registered in the state, though in the 1948 presidential election the GOP polled more than 70,000 votes.

Kennon's entire slate of officers was elected with him.

The union wants an 18 1/2 cent hourly pay hike. The average hourly wage is from $1.92 to $1.97 an hour.

The union also is asking a union shop, guaranteed annual wage, improved premium pay and other concessions. The industry says the total demands would add up to an hourly package of 60 cents a man.

Sabres Bring Week's Kill to 10 Planes

By MILO FARNETI

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 21 (AP) — American Sabre jet pilots shot down two more Red jets today bringing their total this week to 10.

The two MIG-15s eliminated today were blown out of the air during a 20-minute battle in cloudy North Korean skies between 27 American Sabre jets and 20 MIGs.

The 20 Reds swept into battle out of a formation of 80 Russian-type jets. The other MIG pilots watched the fight but didn't get mixed up in it.

The kills were credited to Lt. Billy E. Dobbs of Fontana, Calif., and Capt. Brooks J. Liles of Elizabeth City, N. J.

American losses, if any, were not announced. The Air Force discloses U. S. plane losses only once a week. Storm clouds held Allied planes down to 321 sorties today.

Crewmen of the tanker Pendleton told an inquiry board yesterday that in several respects the vessel's equipment was in poor order. Both halves of the Pendleton are hard aground.

Meanwhile, new chapters were related in the drama of the seas as four of the Fort Mercer's crew were brought to Portland by the cutter Yukon.

Cmdr. Naab told how Second Mate Willard F. Fahrner, 28, of Winthrop, Mass., and Third Mate Vincent A. Gaidon, 22, of Bayonne, N. J., forced Capt. Paetzl to break the age-old tradition that a master is the last to leave his ship.

Cotton Ginned in Hempstead in '51 Shows Big Gain

Nearly 2,000 more bales of cotton were ginned in Hempstead from the 1951 crop than in 1950, according to a report just released by Ernest C. McFarland, district supervisor, for the Bureau of Census. The report shows that 6,475 bales were ginned from the 1951 crop prior to January 16, as compared with 4,583 bales the previous year.

Kennon to Have a New Legislature

New Orleans, Feb. 21 (AP) — When Louisiana's governor-designate Robert Kennon takes office in May he will have a preponderantly new legislature with which to work in implementing the tax reduction platform on which he won election in Tuesday's Democratic runoff primary.

Kennon, an appellate judge from rural northwestern Louisiana, headed the forces of Gov. Earl K. Long after a resounding defeat in the Democratic runoff primary. Unofficial returns from 2,092 of the state's 2,113 precincts showed: Kennon 477,913.

Carlos G. Spah 229,032.

Spah, a former state district judge of Baton Rouge, was the handpicked candidate of Governor Long, who was barred by the constitution from a second four-year term.

Crew Forces Skipper to Leave Ship

Boston, Feb. 21 (AP) — A Coast Guard officer told last night how crewmen of the severed Fort Mercer threw themselves into the storms by forcing their ailing skipper to jump for safety despite his plea to be the last to leave the wreck.

The story was told in Portland, Me., by Comdr. Joseph Naab of the Coast Guard cutter Yukon which plucked the skipper, F. C. C. Paetzl, 48, of Houston, Tex., and three other crewmen from the Fort Mercer's bow.

Other developments in the disaster of the two tankers which broke in halves during a storm off of Chatham, Mass., last Monday:

Two commercial tugs today were towing the stern half of the Fort Mercer with 13 seamen aboard toward Block Island at three knots to finance the project.

A move was approved for the organization of a Junior Garden Club and Mrs. Fonzie Moses was appointed counselor and will select a member from each senior club to assist her in the organization.

A nominating committee with Mrs. Lloyd Kinard as chairman, was named to select names for the election of new officers. Other members are Mrs. Cline Franks, Mrs. W. E. Waller, Mrs. Robert Rider and Mrs. Lethia Spates.

Reports were heard on the annual flower show plans, a Southwest Zone meeting at Magnolia, May 5, and condition of the treasury was given by Mrs. Spates. Mrs. Hollis Luck served in absence of the secretary and Mrs. Rettig, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Rose, Azalia, Camilla, Lilac and Wisteria garden clubs were represented.

Garden Clubs to Put Out Shrubs on Junior High Lawn

City Federation of Garden Clubs met yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. O. Wingfield, discussed plans for the annual flower show, landscaping the Junior High School lawn and set up a nominating committee to select new officers.

The Junior high project calls for 131 plants which will be put out this week according to Mrs. B. I. Rettig, president of the group.

Mrs. Rettig indicated she had received many donations from individuals, civic clubs and garden clubs to finance the project.

Songwriters Plentiful Because It Doesn't Take Long and It Doesn't Take Much Talent

By CYNTHIA LOWRY (For Hal Boyle)

New York, Feb. 21 (AP) — The reason there are so many songwriters," said Steve Allen, who is one himself, "is because it doesn't take long to write a song and because it doesn't take any talent."

Allen estimates amateur songwriters comprise a large group with special interests than other.

Except possibly those players.

"For almost all of these people,

there is no hope that their songs will ever be published," he considered. "There is no other field so fiercely closed to newcomers.

There's about one chance in 100,000 that an amateur's song will be published."

"That," said Allen, "will give you some idea of the problems— and remember that most of these have been good songs. Most amateur songs aren't good."

Oil Industry Strike Called for March 3

Denver, Feb. 21 (AP)—A strike in the oil industry, promised to hit "where it hurts," was called last night for March 3.

"We're going to hit where it hurts," declared O. A. Jack Knight, president of the CIO-Oil Workers International Union, one of the 22 unions which are joining together in the strike.

Knight and the other members of the strike committee refused to revert, where the strike, in support of a demand for a 25-cent an hour pay rise, will be called. The time is 12:01 a. m. local time.

"We've got approval of the strike from enough men to make it effective and we're not going to tell the oil companies where we are going to hit," said J. J. McKenna, Whiting, Ind., who represents the independent unions of the strike committee.

Just how much the strike might cut down gasoline and oil production was unknown.

Nor would anyone say for sure how long it would be before a shortage of gasoline would appear. The pay scale now averages $2.10 an hour. Most companies have offered increases of 10 cents an hour.

Not all union members were included in the strike vote. Knight said most of those voting were employed in refineries or allied fields.

There was no immediate comment from company spokesmen on the strike call.

Customers' Corner

George Washington said it first.

This week, the celebration of Washington's birthday brings to mind the story about the famous cherry tree. Whether he said, "I cannot tell a lie" . . . we don't know, but the father of our country did say, "honesty is always the best policy." The founding father of A&P — George Huntington Hartford — had the same idea when he said, "Always do what is honest, fair and sincere and in the best interest of our customers."

That's the spirit that has always guided the folks of A&P. It always will!

Truman Silent on Renaming Vandenberg

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Truman must decide in the next two months whether he wants to reappoint the senior member of the strategy-making joint chiefs of staff, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg.

Vandenberg's four-year term as

Air Force chief of staff, which also makes him a member of JCS, expries April 30.

The President had a noncommittal answer when asked at a news conference yesterday whether he intended to rename Vandenberg.

He said the question hadn't reached him yet.

Vandenberg would appear to have several sound reasons for accepting reappointment if offered to him. Aside from the importance of his position as commander of the Air Force and senior JCS member, the fact he is only 53 and with only 29 years of service. That means he is eligible neither on the basis of age or service for retirement.

A profusion of daffodils were placed at vantage points throughout the house.

The dining table was overlaid with a handsome imported white linen cutwork banquet cloth and held a centerpiece of white jonquills, narcissus and spires interspersed with Japanese magnolia blooms in a low crystal bowl flanked by glowing white tapers in three branched crystal candelabra that were reflected in the large mirror that hung over the buffet.

There were twenty two guests and Mrs. Fadjo Craven Jr. of Ft. Smith present.

MURRY PROBING GASOLINE PRICES

Little Rock Feb. 21 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Ike Murry was in Washington today to confer with Justice Department officials on the alleged fixing of retail gasoline prices in Arkansas.

He is expected to insist that the department's anti-trust division renew an investigation of the charges or make a formal report on its findings or intentions. Murry was told last spring that division officials were conducting a probe.

The 1951 legislature requested that Murry and the U. S. Attorney General look into sale of motor fuels in Arkansas to determine if there was any price discrimination.

Last month, Gov. McMath revived the issue when he demanded that Murry take "vigorous action" against an alleged price-fixing conspiracy by the "big oil dealers" of Arkansas.

The governor flatly charged that Murry was "a spokesman" for the Oil Dealers Association, which he said was dominated by the big dealers.

Murry commented then that he had not been able to substantiate gasoline price-fixing charges.
